

This fascinating personal memoir, told from the perspective of a missionary doctor in Ecuador, explores what it means to love every day fully, to love those around you, and to embrace the trials life throws at you. Dr. Andrea Gardiner once thought it was normal to expect a long, healthy, pain-free life. Finding herself in a poverty-stricken country where, suddenly, life is far from easy and individuals must learn to love God in spite of their suffering, she begins an intriguing journey. It is one that will leave you challenged and inspired.
