

It is a pleasure for me to include books written in the last year of my tenure with Createspace. As an independent author, audiences are hard to come by, and putting in hours, days and weeks to present works that people can enjoy is a reward greatly received. The literary world has changed into a digital juggernaut that is propelling unknown authors into stardom, as major publishers rush to find the right author with the right connection to steer success to their company. Honestly, I wish to be an author with a major publisher behind me, however, I cannot wait for rejection letters to pile up in order to write books in which people can enjoy. Many of my books have issues that are different from one book to another. And as some authors like to create character that goes periods of evaluations from book to book, like to write about experiences that people can relate to, and that is more pertinent than fictional characters. In addition, I am not saying my way is the best, each writer must develop into the author he or she is proud of, and my development is increasing daily, which makes me proud. I want you all to enjoy this collection, because each book shows a different side of my literary maturation, and I know in the end, will make me one of the acclaimed writers of my generation, possibly of all time. Please enjoy FROM THE PUBLISHER: We welcome you to cherish this collection of Author Raymond Sturgis as he embarks on a Guinness Book World record of publishing the most books within one year. Each book you purchase is not only a part of history but a collection of quality work written by an acclaimed author.
