

One-Track Mind

For several years now, Tony Davidson has collected photographs of objects that look like breasts: street lamps, alarm bells, fire hydrants, policemen's helmets ... There are lots of things that look like breasts when you have a mind like his. Tony now has an impressive collection of images, taken during various trips round the globe. He has also been collating opinions about breasts, by interviewing men and women from all walks of life, and puts these opinions alongside the images to create a book that is humorous, charming and guaranteed to raise a smile. A One Track Mind ensures you'll never look at a bobble hat, cupcake or melon in the same way again.
