

Full Pardon: A terrorist turned peacemaker in Crumlin Road Prison

When Billy McFetridge was discharged from the British Army, the Ulster Defence Association knew they needed his skills as a soldier. Soon Billy was leading raids on clubs and shops, raising money for weapons. Arrested on manslaughter charges he spent seven years in the Maze Prison. Under the direction of a prison chaplain Billy started to study the Bible. One night God spoke to him. For the first time ever, my prayers became two-way communications with God. Slowly the rebuilding of Billy McFetridge was underway
